Linking the right people to the right jobs

Workbridge is a specialist employment service that gives employers access to a wide talent pool of people with a disability, injury or illness.

Our services are free, and we fill 3500-4000 job vacancies each year. If you're an employer, we can help you recruit, select and support staff with the right skills and attitudes for your workplace. If you're a job seeker, we can help you develop job-searching skills and find the most suitable employment for you.
